Food and Clothing

- Food Pantries

www.lafoodbank.org

www.healthycity.org

Food pantries are places that give food to people in need. Most food pantries are small and operated at churches or non-profit organizations. They each make their own rules about who can be served. Many food pantries can only serve people who live in the area near the food pantry. They often require some kind of identification (ID, birth certificate of children, proof of address) and proof that you are low income. Most food pantries can only serve people once a month, or some similar limitation. To be referred to a food pantry, please call:

❖ Info Line 211 (Dial 2-1-1)

Food Stamps Program or CalFresh Program

(877) 597-4777

www.ladpss.org/dpss/calfresh/

The government program called CalFresh (or Food Stamps) gives you benefits to pay for food. You get an Electronic Benefit Transfer (EBT) card that you can use at most stores. Many people who qualify for food stamps do not get them because they do not think they qualify, are embarrassed, or do not know how to apply. If you need food, you should apply. To get food stamps, you or your children must be a U.S. citizen or a legal resident. You must also meet the limits on your income and resources. Please call the main number for information on the food stamps program and the nearest location to apply.

Women, Infants, and Children (WIC)

(888) WIC-WORKS or (888) 942-9675

www.cdph.ca.gov/programs/wicworks/

WIC is a nutrition program that helps pregnant women and new mothers and children under age 5 eat well and stay healthy. To qualify you must be low to medium income. You will never have to pay for any WIC benefits. WIC provides: special checks to buy healthy food such as milk, juice, eggs, cheese, cereal, dry beans and peas, and peanut butter; cash vouchers to purchase fruits and vegetables; extra vouchers for women who are breastfeeding; vouchers for iron fortified infant formula and cereals for infants.

Summer Food Program

(818) 546-2383 City of Los Angeles Recreation and Parks

(213) 241-3366 Food Services Division (For Schools)

Children age 18 and under can get free, meals during the summer or any time when school is out for more than 15 days through the Summer Food Program. No application or other kind of paperwork is required for participants. The meals are served at schools, parks, and recreation centers. The children simply come and eat a free meal. Some sites serve lunch only, but others serve breakfast as well. Some programs operate year-round and can feed your children when they are “off-track” from a year-round school. Please call the main number to find out where your children can eat free when they are not in school.

Commodity Supplemental Food Program (CSFP)

1743 41st Street

Los Angeles, CA 90058

(323) 234-3030

www.lafoodbank.org

This program is targeted for seniors 60 years and older, pregnant women, mothers postpartum for up to one year and children ages one to six. Each client must meet age and/or income qualifications required by the USDA. Qualified clients will receive one of six age-prescribed food kits on a monthly basis. The population served by CSFP is similar to that served by WIC, but CSFP also serves the elderly. The program provides food packages rather than the food vouchers which WIC participants receive. Eligible people cannot participate in both programs at the same time.

MEND is a volunteer-based organization that services only the following areas: Pacoima, Arleta, Sepulveda, North Hills, Mission Hills, San Fernando, Sylmar, and Lake View Terrace. This agency provides food and clothing, medical, dental and vision care, and job training. The Clothing Center is a crucial resource for families and individuals in need. They receive necessary clothing, shoes, blankets and small household items. Baby items and children's clothes are also available.

Financial Services

- CalWorks

CalWorks is California's welfare program for people who have children under 19 years of age. They provide money for children and the relatives caring for them. Most parents are required to participate in a vocational training program, be seeking employment or be employed to be eligible for services. Adults can only get cash aid for five years in a lifetime. In addition to the monthly check, participants get Medi-Cal and most will also get food stamps.

You apply for CalWorks at the nearest Department of Public and Social Services (D.P.S.S.) office. There are three offices that serve the San Fernando Valley. Before you go, please call and be prepared to give your zip code to identify the closest DPSS office.
